A grand reception will be given on the arrival of the train at Augusta.
Augusta, Me., June 16.—Hen. John A.
Logan and Senator Engene Hale arrived here at 3:15 p. m. by the fast express. They were cheered at all the stations along the line.
They will remain with Mr. Blaine to-night, and to-morrow go to Ellsworth, returning to Washington on Wednesday. Mr. Blaine will be invited to accompany the party to Ellsworth. At the station here, on alighting from the train, the distinguished party were received with rounds of cheers. They were driven to Mr. Blaine's residence.

Mr. Blaine was in readiness at his house to give his associate on the ticket a hearity welcome. Gen. Logan comes here at his suggestion, so that they may confer together on

At 8 celock this evening a procession was formed, in which there were over 100 veteran soldiers, and marched to Mr. Blaine's residence. The streets were thronged with peo-ple. Gen. Connor, in a few elequent remarks, introduced Gen. Logan, the latter stepping forward to the porch of Mr. Blaine's mansion and spoks as follows:

forward to the porch of Mr. Blaine's mansion and spoks as follows:

Ladles, Gentlemen, and Combades: I most fully appreciate this kind compliment to night. I am truly giad to meet so many citizens of Augusta. I must confess that I'ffeel embarrassed in attempting to say anything after listening to what has been said by Gen. Connor. It is true that the soldiers of Maine, in the same great contest, stood side by side with those from all other parts of the country, and did their duty for the preservation of this great nation. It was preserved by their energy, their patriotism, and prowess. Behind them stood loyal clitzens of this grand republic giving them their support and prayers with their hearts foil of hope for their success, and as liberty first found birth on the Atlantic slope well may it there have found true hearts for its preservation not only of this country, but of that liberty which God intended for all men.

Let that which followed as a result of the preservation not now be lost. This can only be done by keeping the control of the institutions of this country in the hands of those who sought to maintain them. This people believes in the fondamental principles of republican government. The yolce of a great majority of the republicans of this mighty nation has chosen as the standard bearer of that great party in the coming contest for the presidency of the United States, your fellow-citizen, James G. Citizens of Maine, I feel honored and compli-mented by being associated on the ticket with a nan worthy of the confidence of the people and in every way capable of filling the high office of President with honor to himself and to the cour-try." [Tremendous applause and cheers for Lo-gan.]

Senator Hale was called for, and responded briefly. At the close of his remarks loud calls were made for Mr. Blaine, who appeared at the door and gave a cordial invitation to all present, or as many as could do so, to enter his house and take Mr. Logan by the hand. The reception lasted until a late hour. To-morrow being memorial day at the sol-diers' home at Togus, Gen. Stephenson will extend an invitation to Gen. Logan to be present, and he will probable deliver a short address to the soldiers there. Gen. Logan will remain here several days.

The Cleveland machine has been at work for a long time. Manning is the controlling power. Idoutenant Governor Hill has been power. Licutenant Governor Hill has been looking after the southern tier for the gov-ernor, expecting to succeed Cleveland, should the latter get the nomination and be elected. the inter got the nomination and to dieded. First Treasurer Maxwell has been hard at work in the western end of the state. Daniel hagone is the agent for St. Lawrence county. Smith M. Weed, of cipiler fame, has the contract for carrying Clinton and Essex. His law partner, William E. Smith, is the l machine candidate for temporary chairman of the convention, Judge Hand, of Aibany, having been fixed upon for permanent chairman. John O'Brien, the well known contractor has been the Cleveland agent for the Hudson river counties, while "Eddle" Apgar, deputy state treasurer, has been traveling over the state. It will be seen that the machine has left no point uncovered.

But Gov. Cleveland himself watches the situation with an unruilled spirit. He remains at his post in Albany, and is up to his ears in documents. He refuses to discuss the political situation or anything cles. During the early months of his gubernatorial term he talked freely with newspaper correspondence. Since then his expressions in some instances have been misrepresented.

term he talked freely with newspaper correspondence. Since then his expressions in some instances have been misrepresented. Such results have doubtless taught him to be more cautious in talking for publication, and this caution must become intensified now that he has been mentioned so prominently as a presidential candidate.

Mr. Flower himself is calm, hopeful, and conident. A friend of his declared yesterday that if he did not have a majority of the convention, he would be so close to it as to make Mr. Manning tremble his boots. There has long been a suspicion in Albany that Mr. Flower's objective point is really the gubernatorial nomination of next year.

Cleveland's most sanguine friends claim that he will have between 75 and 100 majority in the convention.

THE CASE OF ENO.

Judge Caron Declines to Transfer Him to

Montreal or to Put Him in Jail, Quenne, June 16 .- Judge Caron, of the superior court, to-day decided against the application for the transfer of John C. Eno to the jurisdiction of the Montreal courts for trial, with a view to the extradition, and dismissed the petition of High Constable Bissanette, upon whose conduct he passed some severe strictures, remarking among other things that it was fortunate for him it had not come under the purview of some of his judicial colleagues here, as they would have dealt more severely with him. The judge said the proof of Eno's offense should be adduced before him here at Quebec, where the prisoner would continue to be held until Thursday next. Judge Caron declared that his decision had the full approval of Judge Tessier, who had already quashed the two former warrants in the Eno case, and all his colleagues on the superior court bench at Quebec, including the chief justice. Mr. Fitzpatrick, of counsel for the private presecution, then asked that Eno should be committed to the common jail. He said he was instructed to make this application, and did so advisedly. Mr. Irvine, of counsel for the prisoner, resisted the application, pointing out that it was a matter entirely within the discretion of the judge. So far the prisoner had been judge said the proof of Eno's offense should be was a matter entirely within the discretion of the judge. So far the prisoner had been kept very safely. Mr. Pelletier, representing the crown, said the crown had no desire to make the prisoner's lot any harder, and, so far as it was concerned, it did not have the slightest apprehension that he would escape, or that there was any danger of his doing so. THE DINGLEY SHIPPING BILL.

A Long Session of the Conference Committee Last Night-All But Two of the Points of Difference Agreed Upon.

The conference committee of the house on the Dingley shipping bill had a long session last night, and disposed of all the points of difference between the senate and house except with respect to the free-ship clause of the house bill, which was stricken out by the sonate, and the mail steamship subsidy clause added to the bill in the senate. The principal points of difference between the two houses which were disposed of by the committee were those referring to the tonnage nihilate any Turkish military force that tax upon vessels engaged in the foreign trade, and the supervision of shipping commis-sioners. On both these points the committee adopted the provisions of the house bill. adopted the provisions of the house bill. The latter provides for a reduction of the tonnage tax to 3 and 6 cents, according to the longth of the voyage, and also that shipping commissioners shall hereafter be subject to the control of the secretary of the treasury instead of, as now, being under the supervision of the circuit courts.

It was found to be impossible at the meeting last night for the conferes to acree.

It was found to be impossible at the meeting last night for the conferees to agree upon the "free ships" and "subsidy" clauses. With respect to these the committee is evenly divided. Senstor Frye and Senstor Miller, of New York, of the senate conferees, and Representative Diugley, of the house conferees, are opposed to the free-ship clause, and Messrs. Slocum and Dibble, of the house committee, and Vest, of the senate committee, are in favor of its adoption. The three last-named opposed the subsidy plan of the senate. It was said last night, after the meeting by a member of the committee, that it was probable that sooner than see the bill fail to go through at this session, the house conferees would agree to drop the "free ship" clause if the postal steamship subsidy clause also were dropped. This he thought would be the outcome of the dispute between the houses.

Washington Defeats Indianapolis in a Splendidly Played Game.

The American Cricketers Open Play in London.

Reports of Yesterday's Racing at St. Louis, Pittsburg and Brighton Beach,

Scores of Yesterday's Base Ball Games Played Abroad,

The game between the two tall end clubs at

Athletic park yesterday was in every respect a model display of good base ball. Such close, steady fielding is not often witnessed, and it is evident the two closely matched nines play against each other for all they are worth. The home club won on Yawell's base hit in the third inning,a wild throw,on which he made third, and Humphries's sacrifice hit, which carried him across the home plate, this ending the run getting for both nines. It looked prom-ising for more scoring by the home team in the fifth inning when Morgan and Yewell led. off with good base hits, but Dorgan made a magnificent catch of Barr's long hit to right, Sneed captured Fannelly's skyscraper to center, and McKeon took in Humphries's high "pop" fly, leaving Morgan and Yewell hugging their bases. Prince took first on called balls in the sixth inning, and worked his way around to third, but was left by Sneed catching Mullin's liner about six inches from the ground while on the run. Suced's work at center was as good as has been seen here this year, he making five fine catches. The Indianapolis boys only had three men on the bases during the game, Barr's splendid pitching proving an insurmountable ob-stacle to them. Callahan was given a base on balls in the first inning. Peltz made a long hit to left in the third inning, which Morgan misjudged and failed to gen under, the striker taking third, where he was left by Dorgan striking oot. Kerins made a double-bagger in the seventh on a high hit to right, which Smith made a good try for him double-bagger in the seventh on a high hit to right, which Smith made a good try for, but got no farther. Yewell made the only dielding error for the home club, in the fourth inning, by falling to handle a hot grounder from Phillips's bat, but immediately afterward redeemed himself by passing Callahan's grounder to Fennelly on second, who threw it to Prince, retiring Phillips and Callahan on a pretty double play. Barrand McKeen both pitched with great effect, but Barr decidedly carried off the honors, giving a display of strategic work in his position seldom equaled. In the ninth inning he struck out Peltz, Dorgan, and Phillips in succession. Fennelly and Gladmon were unlucky in their batting, Dorgan, and Phillips in succession. Femuliy and Gladmon were unlucky in their batting, the latter going out three times and the former twice on long hits to the outfield. Humphries played magnificently behind the bat, accepting fourteen chances without an error. Phillips caught a red hot liner with one hand from Humphries's bat in the eighth inning, for which he was awarded round after round of applause. The second game takes place this atternoon, and should draw a large attendance. The score follows:
